MEMORANDUM FOR : Project Director

SUBJECT : Pilot Procurement - TAC Visit

1. Colonel Berg and I met with General O. P. Weyland at TAC Headquarters on 24 February for the purpose of requesting authority to recruit Tactical Air Command personnel for our Project. He first hastily briefed General Weyland on Aquatone's mission and requested his permission to procure approximately 15 pilots from his Command for our overseas activities. After considerable discussion it was apparent that TAC is extremely short of personnel with the flying qualifications required by us. The General was most cooperative and felt that the pilots for this project should be furnished by all Air Force commands. He desired to participate in this activity but he could only provide us with five or six individuals at this time.

2. A sanitized discussion with General Weyland's Deputy for Personnel, General Bill Kennedy, further emphasized the lack of trained fighter pilots in TAC. General Kennedy stated that he had just made a review of the pilots in this category. Although the survey was about one month old, he stated that in the entire Tactical Air Command there were only a handful of individuals meeting our criteria and that they were holding down extremely key positions in their command. Further discussion with General Kennedy led to the conclusion that we could not recruit pilots from TAC since we would have to visit at least 4 or 5 fields to procure only five pilots. At this point General Weyland withdrew his offer of five pilots and suggested that we try the Training Command or go back to SAC for additional procurement. He did say, however, that if the problem became critical he would allow us the privilege of withdrawing five fighter pilots from his command.

3. Colonel Berg and I agreed to accept the General's proposition. However, to continue with the procurement program it was agreed that Colonel Lemes would be requested to make an Air Force wide inventory of the location of all pilots meeting Aquatone qualifications. From this list DCS/Personnel will direct the major command to provide them. In the meanwhile Colonel Berg will notify SAC that we desire to recruit five additional pilots from one of their other bases immediately. In addition to this action it is expected that we will contact the Training Command in the next few days and recruit their support in solving this problem.
